A little bit about myself:

I'm very interested in nutrition and fitness. I train regularly and maintain a healthy diet. I'm also a big animal lover, although I don't have any animals myself, unfortunately. I love riddles and puzzles and sit down and really think deeply about something. After my year in Texas I developed a love of reading books as well as the discipline of focusing on something over longer periods of time. Lastly, although I am a very social and hardworking young man, I do like some time on my own once in a while too.

This is a picture of me when I went back to visit my friends at Marine Military Academy in February 2017.
